

E-Transcripts

MAC Computers are not compatible for opening E-Transcripts. If you have a MAC, please contact us at the numbers below, and we will send to you a text version of your deposition. If you do not own a MAC and are still experiencing difficulty opening your E-Transcript, please follow these steps:

- Before viewing an E-transcript, it is necessary to first go to: www.reallegal.com and download the “E-transcript viewer” software. This is something that is necessary to do only one time and is quick and free. Once it is downloaded onto your computer, you will always be able to view e-transcripts on that computer. In order to view it on other computers, the same steps will need to be taken.
- Once you have downloaded the software, download the E-transcript file onto your computer where you can find it easily. Once it is downloaded onto your computer, go to the file and double click the file to open it.
- The E-transcript is now ready for use.
- Some unique features for the e-transcript are:
 - ◆ It has a searchable word index that allows you to locate a specific word in the transcript by double clicking on that word.
 - ◆ You can print copies of the transcript in either condensed, full, and/or the keyword index.
 - ◆ You can also schedule more depositions with this firm by going to:
 - Tools
 - Schedule Court Reporter
 - Fill Out the Information
 - An e-mail will be sent to confirm your request, and we will also call the day before the deposition to confirm it.
- If these steps do not solve the problem, please contact our office at:
(918) 745-0303 or (888) 499-0349

Thank you, we appreciate your business!
